

South End Algae - 2020

MLA asked our weed treatment specialist about this and his response is as follows:

“It is a Coldwater algae called Spirogyra -- we can find it under the ice in the winter time --- it can't grow in water over 70 degrees so it will die on its own or go away with a warm rain. It is normal to see this for a week or two in the spring.”